Summary: This poem is about the love Green Arrow is still having for the Black Canary since the first day they met.

Black Canary, Will You Marry Me?

At first, I have not heard

Of that blonde pretty bird

But that was before we

Met and began to see

That our love is not awkward.

It really was a good thing

That a true chance meeting

Had happened between

Me and my sparrow queen

Without a single fist beating.

Maybe this Green Arrow

Would be able to borrow

The right amount of time

To do what is no crime

And marry that sparrow.
